Restaurant website

- This project will give you ample opportunity to showcase your creative skills. As you can guess, a restaurant website has to be elaborate and detailed, including several functionalities.
- First, you have to design a captivating webpage layout wherein you will have to add different elements. This will include a list of food items, one-line descriptions for food items, prices, attractive images of different dishes, social media buttons, contact information, online reservation option, and other necessary details. Using CSS, you can align the various food items/beverages and their respective prices within a grid.
- When creating a restaurant website, you have to focus on using stylish layouts, neat font styles, and an eye-catching combination of colors. If you wish to make the website even fancier, you can include a photo gallery with sliding images of different food items. You can also add relevant links on the website to help the audience navigate better through the site.
